

Reasons Why OEMs

Specify Tempco's Quality

Liquid-Cool Cast-In Aluminum Heaters

The Importance of Liquid Cooling

The liquid cooling function of the Cast-In Heater is of primary importance in maintaining the proper temperature of the barrel in the extrusion process.

Tempco offers many different liquid cooling variations, styles and terminations. The following pages will assist you in selecting the liquid cooling system best suited to your application. See page 3-63 for complete details on how to order.